Residents mostly support water assessment passed by council

Most of the residents who spoke at Tuesday evening's City Council meeting supported Resolution No.94-74, amending the water assessment and proposing a final solution to the high water bills.

City Administrator Sean Joyce explained the establishment of a lump assessment of $10.50 per unit of water consumed. He told the council that he had chosen to average a billing cycle of the April 1 or May 1 bills, depending on whether the cutomer lives east or west of Baldwin Ave. Customers will be billed prior to Oct. 31, 1994, and they must make a minimum payment of 50 percent of the invoice amount on or before May 31, 1995, Joyce said.

The remaining balance would be due on or before May 31, 1996. Of course, exemptions would be given to residents who meet the HUD low income criteria for other utilities.

Joyce explained that this assessment would net the city $1,200,444. Because the city has already credited $59,363 to the $1,395,000 recovery target from the high sales this summer (it was an exceptionally hot summer), the sale of water to Arcadia will round out the balance to $375.

To reiterate, Joyce showed the repayment as follows: the recovery target stands at $1,393,000. The assessment revenue will equal $1,200,000. Add to that the higher-than-normal water sales from residents at $59,363, and also add $135,000 in Arcadia water sales, and the remaining balance is $375.

The financial impact to residents, he said, is the most equitable lump sum presented by the city to date. "By compelling customers to pay 50 percent of their bill prior to the end of the fiscal year, the city is assured of meeting our repayment commitment to the local (Sanwa) bank. Permitting customers the flexibility to delay repaying the balance of their invoice until May 31, 1996, minimizes their immediate financial burden...Low water use customers would not subsidize higher use customers."

Joyce explained that to avoid penalizing any of the 3504 paying customers who may have used more than 300 units during only the subject period, staff analyzed 17 customers' most recent 12-month consumption history and would invoice them at $10.50 per unit for their average consumption.

He said that if this "hybrid" proposal were adopted, 67 percent of Sierra Madre's water customers would pay less than the original $338 lump sum proposed earlier.

In other news, City Engineer Jim Mitsch reported that the Orange Grove Project is moving ahead quickly now with a sewer relief line going in.

In February, 1995, a bid will be awarded after 60 days. Construction will begin in March, 1995, and after 120 working days, the project will be completed.

Kids to participate in window painting

Sierra Madre's downtown area will be brightened by its annual Halloween window painting contest in which children ages 10 through 14 years will participate during the last two weeks of the month.

As part of the traditional activities, the competition is scheduled by the city of Sierra Madre Parks and Recreation Department in conjunction with Civic Club and the Chamber of Commerce with applications available at the Recreation Center, 611 East Sierra Madre Blvd. Completed applications and art work must be submitted at the Recreation Center no later than tomorrow, Friday, Oct. 14, at 5 p.m. Unfortunately, The News did not receive this information until after last week's News was published.

The window painting will take place Friday, Oct. 21, and Saturday, Oct. 22, with judging on Oct. 22. The awards ceremony is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 22, also, from 1 to 1:30 p.m. Judging is from noon to 1 p.m. that day.

Painting will take place from 2 to 6 p.m. on Friday, and from 8 to 11:45 a.m. on Saturday.

Sean Joyce, city administrator, said, "Among Sierra Madre's fine traditions for our young people is the Annual Halloween Window Painting Contest. Every year, children paint spooky Halloween scenes on the glass 'canvas' of many consenting downtown merchants. The program is all in good fun and serves to demonstrate the wonderful talent and imagination of Sierra Madre's youth. Many of our local adults fondly recollect participating in the annual affair. The reward for such an event will be evident this year when seeing the smiling faces of young participants and jack-o-lanterns alike at the awards ceremony."

The News to celebrate with mixer in Kersting Court, Oct. 20

Sierra Madre News will achieve a milestone on Thursday, Oct. 20, and the paper invites the Foothill communities to celebrate in Kersting Court, which will be closed off that evening for the festivities.

On Oct. 2, 1980, Jan Reed purchased the paper from R. Robert Evans. This year is the 14th anniversary of that date, and The News staff asks everyone to celebrate on Oct. 20, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the mixer and The News will host it. The News' front office will serve as the liquid refreshment area, and food will be served in Kersting Court.

Bob Singleton of Sierra Madre will provide music at the mixer, and Joe Marinelli, also of Sierra Madre, will be an honored guest because of his well-known acting ability. He has appeared in several soap operas, and has been acting since seventh grade when Stan Zalas of the Sierra Madre Playhouse was his English teacher.

Congressman David Dreier, Assemblyman Dick Mountjoy, Supervisor Mike Antonovich and Sierra Madre Mayor MaryAnn MacGillivray have promised to make an apperance at the party.

The News plans several other surprises and some exciting gifts in a drawing.

Marinelli was on the Emmy award-winning "Santa Barbara" for two successful years, and is now playing Pauly ~~Hardman~~ on "The Guiding Light," another popular soap opera. Marinelli is married and has a son, 1 year. You will read more about him in next week's paper.

Again, this is a blanket invitation to everyone to attend this special occasion.

Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club honored by Bank of America

Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club is one of 90 top Los Angeles service organizations to be honored in the "90 Good Neighbors" program which is in conjunction with the bank's 90th anniversary celebration this fall.

The club will receive a $500 donation and a certificate of appreciation at a reception on Oct. 17.

Bank of America branch employees in L.A. County nominated the organizations which were selected for their performance, integrity and service on behalf of children and families.

"We're honoring these excellent organizations because they reflect the spirit of service upon which Bank of America was founded," said Tom Decker, executive vice president, who is the bank's senior corporate officer in Southern California.

"We're celebrating our 90th anniversary by looking forward and establishing partnerships with organizations that serve the communities where we do business," said Liam McGee, group executive vice president, who heads the California Retail Bank.

All 90 organizations will be recognized during a reception in their honor on Monday, Oct. 17, from 6 to 8 p.m., in the rotunda of the Los Angeles Public Library at 630 W. Fifth St. in downtown Los Angeles.

About those trees

Guest Editorial
By Rick Allor

I think we all agree that the trees of Sierra Madre are one of our most valuable assets, and we are all basically aware of the benefits they provide. Walking along our city streets is particularly pleasurable because of our shaded, tree-lined streets, yet these same trees that bring so much beauty into our lives can also bring hazards and interruptions.

Cities across America are finding themselves faced with the necessity of discovering new ways to accommodate the urban forests left by our predecessors. Many of our public street trees were planted before the days of curbs, gutters, high voltage power lines, TV and telephone cables, sewers, and other utilities that we now find so vital to modern living. Many times, trees were planted with little regard to their ultimate size, and without the realization of what the cost of maintaining these trees might be in the future.

There are many simple remedies to our city's tree problems, such as planting only trees with non-invasive root systems for narrow parkways with sidewalks, planting only trees with lower growth habits on one side of the street with high power transmission lines above, and including root barriers for the larger trees to protect our curbs and sidewalks.

The Tree Preservation Commission is working toward devising solutions to the present problems and past mistakes associated with our public trees, so that generations to come can enjoy what so many take for granted. We would like to lay the groundwork for the good care and preservation of what we have, and improve and enhance it for many years to come.

The Commission needs your help. The best way to accomplish these goals is to find out what we have. An inventory of the city's public trees, our trees, is currently being conducted. It's a big job and many volunteers are needed. If you are out taking a stroll on our beautiful tree-lined streets, why not take some time to count them? They're counting on you.

Please contact Rick Allor at 355-1926 if you are interested in helping.

Under the Pepper Tree

by Jan Reed

• This is a continuation of last week's listing of all of the people who helped us celebrate our 14th anniversary with a surprise party at The News office last Monday.

A complete list of those beautifully loving people who CARE follows: Emelita Bituin, Caroline Brown, Carroll Brown, Gordon and Mary Lou Caldwell, Joseph Catalano, Phyllis Chapman, Charlie Childs, Verna Chilton, Sherry and Steve Christiansen, Susan Chubbuck...

And Gertrude Daniels, Mike Delgatto, Marlene and Harry Enmark, Dave Felt, Doug and Janice Hayes, Pam Kelly, Skip Kiefer, Hank and Bonnie Landsberg, Jerry and Kathy Logue, Ann Luke, Celeste McCreary and Judy and Benn Martin...

Also Bill and Sue Messersmith, Dollie and Bev Morant, Jackie Raymond, Lynn and Bill Schlote, Herb and Nancy Shollenberger, Joan Sheets, Michael and Sherry Sizer, Beth Smith, Joylouise Harte Smith and Janet Swanson...and "many many more!," said the giant-sized card that was presented that day.

Again, thank you all so very much.

We hope to see you at the big mixer on Thursday, Oct. 20, 5:30 to 7 in Kersting Court... Read all about it and plan to come to the party.

• We are thrilled to be a part of Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club for many reasons. The big news is that Bank of America has singled out this club for one of their "90 Good Neighbors" and we'll be getting recognition on Monday, Oct. 17, at Los Angeles Public Library.

Michael Delgatto was the very able president last year; Julie Bridge is the newly elected president for this next Kiwanis year.

You'll read more about this honor elsewhere in The News.

• We congratulate Gene Perret whose new book, "Successful Stand-Up Comedy," has recently been released. He is being honored at Vroman's in Pasadena this Thursday evening and we urge you all to come along with us. The author signing is between 7 and 8 p.m.

• We appreciated the note from Dr. and Mrs. Valois who, after reading the Pepper Tree column a couple of weeks ago, reminded me that when we lived in San Marino, we called "rats," "rodents." Ah, well. We goofed in the recent Pepper Tree...

I've been hearing from many Sierra Madreans who say they DO have rats...er... rodents. More about that later.

• Huell Howser, our longtime friend of Sierra Madre, will be master of ceremonies at the dedication of the Library and Courts II Building in downtown Sacramento Oct. 19.

• And we apologize to Dale Wonders for forgetting to give him a byline on the story about Rotey, the famous dress store owner in Pasadena.

• Our supervisor, Michael Antonovich, was one of the board who approved a contract with Edward Carson Beall to design and construct the Eaton Canyon Nature Center Building in Altadena.

Construction will begin on Sept. 12, 1995.

As you all remember, the center was destoyed in the 1993 wildfires. The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) is providing 90 percent of the cost of reconstruction with the state's Offices of Emergency Services (OES) providing the remaining 10 percent. The contract is for $89,983 with County Parks and Recreation Director Rodney Cooper authorized to supplement the contract by 20 percent, if necessary.

• Daylight Saving Time ends on Oct. 30 at 2 a.m. It's the time to turn the clocks back one hour. We'll remind you again as the time comes nearer.

• We urge everyone to read the guest editorial this week. Those of you who are professional arborists are surely welcome to help the Tree Preservation Commission in tagging all of the parkway trees in Sierra Madre.

If there are about 10,000 trees in Sierra Madre, that makes a tree for every resident. What a town to be able to boast that fact...

A suggestion for paying bills

I have been reading with interest the various letters in the paper regarding the Council problems. Mr. Joyce has answered questions on many of these issues, but he did not refer to my suggestion so here I come again--the little old lady who used to ride the Red Cars to Los Angeles as we were trying to preserve the tranquility of our living in Sierra Madre. Being a very practical person, I suggested we might have funds consigned for other new projects that we could use to pay off our current water debts. I will listen intently to the public hearing on Oct. 11 and hope to get an answer to my suggestion. Don't we all, when we are faced with debts, use what we have on hand to pay them off and postpone other projects, however cherished, to a later date?

I'm not criticizing, just trying to help in this matter which seems to have torn us apart.

Ernestine Yeckley

Who's in charge?

Last week I went to City Hall to try to get an answer to what I considered an intelligent question: why was our newly revised Condo statement showing a $12 increase for refuse? Keep in mind this bill was for the very same period covered by the original bill. My understanding was that the new statement was only to reflect the reduction of the water assessment. Would you believe I could not get an intelligent answer from anyone!

This refuse increase means that the costs have gone up $28.90 since the first of the year. I really would like to know who authorized this increase and why. Surely someone must have the answer.

Arboretum Walks

By Peggy Stewart

Saturday was such a stunning day that we decided to enjoy it at the Arboretum. Who would have ever thought that it could get so hot?!

We first took the shuttle tram to the top of Tallac Knoll getting a little breeze on the way and a lift up the hill as well. What a view we had! The mountains stood out so clearly. As a reminder of last year's fire, we could easily identify the burned sections in a sort of pinkish brown color against the dark, gray-green trees and chaparral of the unburned portions.

Closer to us, we looked out across the Arboretum grounds at the tops of the beautiful Chorisia trees with their brilliant pink blooms. As we walked down the road to the base of Tallac Knoll, we passed under several large Chorisa. A whole forest of flowering trees is currently being planted on the Knoll. Once established the area will be a helpful place to evaluate trees that might be suitable for our own garden.

At the bottom of the hill we crossed the roadway to visit the Victorian Rose Garden where the roses are enjoying a lovely fall bloom. Next Wednesday, Oct. 19, Bill Robinson, who has worked with such creativity and diligence in developing the garden, will give a fall rose workshop in the garden. He will point out different roses and talk about their performance throughout the season. He will also discuss preparing the garden for winter. We will be here taking notes and making some rose selections for our own garden. To make reservations for the workshop, call the CAF office (447-8207).

Fortunately, there is a tram stop right by the garden. We hopped aboard for a ride back to the entrance. At Peacock Cafe we lingered in the shade of umbrellas, sipped a cool drink and relished the vistas across the lawns of the Arboretum.

Out and About

By Dick Rogers

Have you heard it? That long, mournful, mooing noise in the canyon? It usually occurs close to dinner time, and it is followed by what sounds like a bugle call. Sometimes the bugle call comes first. I think it's a signal of some kind. Someone said it's cocktail hour...unh unh, don't think so. Another opined that it comes from the trail. I know that's not true.

About five years ago, there was a third member of this strange phenomenon. He or she blasted out with what sounded like a trombone. On one memorable day, and on that day only, I distinctly heard an unusual whistle follow the trombone. One timid soul ventured forth and committed to the ritual only to retreat to the dreaded normalcy of their former life.

No, there's something more to it than anything I've alluded to...it has something to do with the herding instinct. As long as there is at least that bugle and what sounds like a sea conch, all is well. I know that there are at least two people keeping watch. For what...I haven't a clue, but if it comes they're ready.

It would be nice, however, if more people would assume their responsibility to let others know they are keeping their watch. You don't need a trumpet...a kazoo will do. A bell, whistle, even a drum. I've been eyeballing these cymbals (the brassy dishes you bang together).

In order to keep things in order, however, I think things should be kept under wraps until either that bugle or conch sets the tone. We can't just have everyone sounding off when they feel like it. So, I'm keeping my ear tuned to the sounds of the canyon. When I hear that conch or bugle, I'm making tracks for my contribution, whatever it may turn out to be. Tickling your wife doesn't count.

Before I leave...set up the road blocks again, our town was written up in the Los Angeles Times again. You know, one of those pieces about "The Best Kept Secrets in the World." I've seen a few people sitting at tables on the sidewalks reading the real estate books.

The Wonderful, Wacky Model T

By Harry Martin

My acquaintance with "Tin Lizzie" began when I was about 10 years old. At that time, 1911, it looked as if Henry Ford's vow to put everyone on wheels and at a price they could afford was about to come true. Cars were rattling off the assembly lines like corn jumping from a cornpopper, and one early model was priced at $295, f.o.b. Detroit. The industrial world was shocked, and the labor world would be shocked later when he established the daily wage of $5. One of our neighbors bought a touring car, an open model seating five people. He took all the kids in the area for a ride and I was one of them. We went north on 16th Street, leaving a cloud of powdery dust in our wake. At the most, we were doing 20 miles per hour, but it seemed like flying.

Henry Ford believed in simplicity, and his car was simple in the extreme. There was no water pump, no oil or fuel pump. There was no windshield wiper on the large, square "windscreen." No gas gauge on the dashboard, only a primitive type of speedometer. There was no stick shift and automatic shifts were in the future. Power was transmitted to the drive shaft by a system of bands, sometimes called "planetary." No heater or air conditioner, not even side curtains on the earliest models. There were no four-wheel brakes and the tires and inner tube were thin and flimsy. Still, it was transportation for anyone who had the price. There were no garages, no filling stations, the village blacksmith being the first one to be called on when repairs were needed.

There were two hazards involved in owning a Model T. One was cranking the engine, there being no selfstarter. Sometimes the motor backfired if the spark and gas levers had not been set correctly, and a dislocated elbow or wrist was not unknown. The other hazard was a flat tire, and they were frequent, as the dirt roads were home to numerous horseshoe nails, left there by generations of equines who had clip-clopped down the years. The wheel had to be jacked up and the skimpy tire removed with the help of two flat, beveled iron straps, known as "hambones." Skinned knuckles and an assortment of cuss words always went with tire trouble. All cars

Letters from home

Time again to watch the marvelous migration of our feathered friends.

Californians know well the story of the swallows and Capistrano. Maybe they miss St. Joseph's or St. John's days just a bit occasionally, but their punctuality is amazing.

Some ornithologists believe the record is based on the fact that swallows are insectivorous, feeding in flight, and less frequently delayed by weather since they fly by day.

For a couple thousand years, the disappearance of birds in autumn was explained not by migration, but by hibernation. Maybe they hid in mud or water in winter. Some folks even thought birds went to the moon for the winter, going so far as to say they took 60 days to get there.

Others thought the big birds migrated--with little bird varieties on their backs.

Do climatic conditions only control timing of the flights as believed until recently?

Now students believe length of daylight is a factor. Enlargement of reproductive organs is another. To know more, ornithologists study pituitary and thyroid glands, fat buildup and food scarcity. There is a lot to learn

The ruby-throated hummingbird, for instance, adds 40% to its normal body weight before taking off on, for instance, a 500 mile trip over the Gulf of Mexico. (That's good mileage on a few grams of fat.)

Proof of a lot of statistics is in banding the birds. One of the great students of banding, Allen J. Duvall, Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, reports these facts:

Snow geese, banded in California in spring and fall, are recovered frequently in western states and Canada. Some snow geese bred on Wrangel Island off the Arctic coast of Siberia make California--as many as 300,000 of them flying to North America, most to California.

The pintail duck is really a world traveler. One banded bird flew from Labrador to England in 18 days. One left California and was checked three months later on Cook Island, 4000 miles away in the south Pacific.

One little blue-winged teal covered the 3800 miles from Allabash Deta to Lake Maricabo, Venezuela, in a month.

Do the migrators do these wondrous things just because they don't know better? Or are they really such "bird brains" after all?

Or was the poet right when he wrote, "He who from zone to zone guides through the sky thy certain flight, will in the long way that I must tread alone, lead my steps aright."

Who makes up the water department?

Phyllis Bennet to present two more seminars on interior decoration

Phyllis Bennet

Phyllis Bennet, who has a design studio in her home in Sierra Madre, will present two more "artful" seminars in Sierra Madre, one on Oct. 19 and one on Oct. 26. Both will be held at Household Bank and are sponsored by the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce.

The first seminar was held Oct. 12, and was entitled "Planning Your Space."

The second seminar, Oct. 19, will be entitled "Atmosphere." The third, on Oct. 26, will be on "Color & Style."

All seminars, at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, have limited registration, so space should be reserved early by calling (818) 355-3511. Checks should be made out to the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce. Chamber members get in for $30 while non-chamber members pay $45.

Bennet calls the seminar "practical solutions to designing problems" and explains that she sees her role as helping people interpret their own style. "I attempt to enhance their personalities, helping them with any collections they may have. Precious family items may be stored away in a box. I urge people to bring them out and use them by having them framed or by putting them in a shadow box, to name just two ways these items can be shown."

In the Oct. 19 seminar Bennet will continue discussion on planning space and will also go into atmosphere---how hard, shiny and soft surfaces can come together. "At that time chemistry comes in so you know the fiber content of fabrics."

On Oct. 26, in the color and style section, Bennet will talk about color distribution and accessories.

Bennet, a native Californian, is an alumna of USC where she majored in art and education. She graduated from Woodbury University with honors, earning a Bachelor of Science degree in interior design. She is an associate member of the American Society of Interior Designers (A.S.I.D.), and is active in several Sierra Madre

Homeowners/Residents Association Oct. 20

Caroline Brown will speak on the Sierra Madre Mountain Conservancy and the use of funds at the next Homeowners/Residents Association on Thursday, Oct. 20, at 7:30 p.m.

This is the eighth anniversary of the group.

The meeting will be at city hall.

"I BELIEVE WE SHOULD MAKE OUR CUSTOMERS HAPPY AT ALL COSTS."

Moe says...

People ask me how long they can expect their cars to run well and I always tell people that things start going wrong when the car has traveled about 90,000 miles. For some vehicles it's much higher, for others less. But it's after 90,000 miles when you really need to start watching a car closely.

Sub-compact, economy cars are not as durable. We call them "disposable cars" because they aren't going to last as long as some other cars.

When things start going wrong, maintenance becomes very expensive.

Beware Bewitching Civic Clubbers

By Phyllis Chapman

Halloween is just a moon away, which means Sierra Madre Civic Club members have begun brewing up their cauldron of bubbling Halloween fun for Sierra Madre youngsters. They are also putting out a call for anyone who is "haunted" by ideas to please come forth and share them.

The annual window painting on the store fronts of local businesses will take place on Friday, Oct. 21, from 1:30 to 6:30 p.m. and on Saturday, Oct. 22, 8 a.m. to noon. Judging follows at 12:30. Artists 10 to 15 years of age with the ghoulish touch are invited to sign up. Applications are available at Sierra Madre Recreation Department's new office at the Recreation Center, 611 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. See Delia.

Civic Club co-chairs Toni Moran and Carolyn Halpern with other members wil be on hand both days to dispense the needed paint to these young artists. They set up their paint-dispensing table near the school bell tower in Kersting Ct.

Then members direct their spooky specialties to setting up the annual Spook House, which will be entered from the rear side of City Hall and will be open Halloween night from 5:30 to 8 p.m. This is where co-chairs Darlene Traxler and Maggie Ogilvie would welcome anyone who would like to come and add to the special spooks who will inhabit the "house" or for any ideas to add to the fun. Please call Traxler, 355-6220, or Ogilvie, 355-7074, if you can help and particularly so if you are a graduate of some scary school.

Barry Schwam, who writes for the Sierra Madre News, has already come forth with some of his terrifically terrible ideas. Those ideas were enough to "lay you out" last year. With the idea, too, of "letting there be light," costumed Civic Club members will escort trick-or-treaters through the Spook House maze with their flash lights. All survivors are given a treat before they leave.

PLAN LOUISE CORP TOURNAMENT---Nolie Howard explains the rudiments of tennis to Sierra Madre Police Chief Joe Surgent while Phyllis Chapman and Olive Buchan make plans for the Louie Corp Tennis Tournament on Friday, Oct. 21, beginning with tennis at 8:30 p.m. The tournament benefits Sierra Madre Police. Cost for tennis and lunch are $25. In case of rain, cost is $15. Those wishing more information should call Buchan at 355-6589 or Howard at 355-7466. They are chairpersons this year.

Women's clothes now on sale at Little Stuga

There's a new clothing store in Sierra Madre. Well, not really. It's an addition to Little Stuga where Cherri Marshall and Heather Sheets have started a line called "Stuga Styles."

A custom clothing designer has assisted the women and they have designed some of the clothes themselves. They have also purchased some from the mart, they report.

"We also hope to draw from local talent," Marshall said last week.

This section in the front west area will be a place for women to shop and it has the feeling of a "softer, gentler way since the clothes have a comfortable feeling, a local feeling of comfort with a flair for style and at reasonable prices," said Sheets.

"We are attempting to give this area of the store a flow of quiet, a comfort zone where women can find accessible fashions that feature a softness in both fabric and style," Marshall added.

In that area of the store Joan Sheets, owner of Little Stuga, is also featuring soaps, bath oils, perfumes, earrings.

The women are accenting shoes with interesting embellishments to match some of the dresses which feature wonderful lace additions or antique buttons.

This "woman's section" will grow as interest swells.

Little Stuga invites all women to stop in at 50 West Sierra Madre Blvd. to see some of the fashions in "Stuga Styles."

Former News columnist to sign new book at Vroman's, Oct. 13

Gene Perret, Bob Hope's head writer and three-time Emmy Award winner for "The Carol Burnett Show," will sign his new book, "Successful Stand-Up Comedy," on Thursday, Oct. 13, from 7 to 8 p.m.

Perret was a columnist for the Sierra Madre News for two years in the early '80s.

Vroman's is located at 965 Colorado Blvd., Pasadena.

Bob Hope said of the book, "Perret's the physician of the funny bone, the doctor of jokes and the chiropractor of comedy. He really can help you keep an audience in stitches."

Phyllis Diller, for whom Perret also wrote, said, "Gene Perret has written for every major stand-up comic. He's an analyst, a craftsman, a genius!"

The public is invited to the author-signing.

Fall Plant Festival Nov. 3-6

The season for fall gardening will get off to a brisk start during the Fall Plant Festival, scheduled for Nov. 3-6 at The Huntington Library, Art Collections, and Botanical Gardens. This popular annual event will help autumn gardeners get a jump on spring, with informative garden talks offered at 2:30 p.m. each day, and an ongoing plant sale from 1-4:30 p.m.

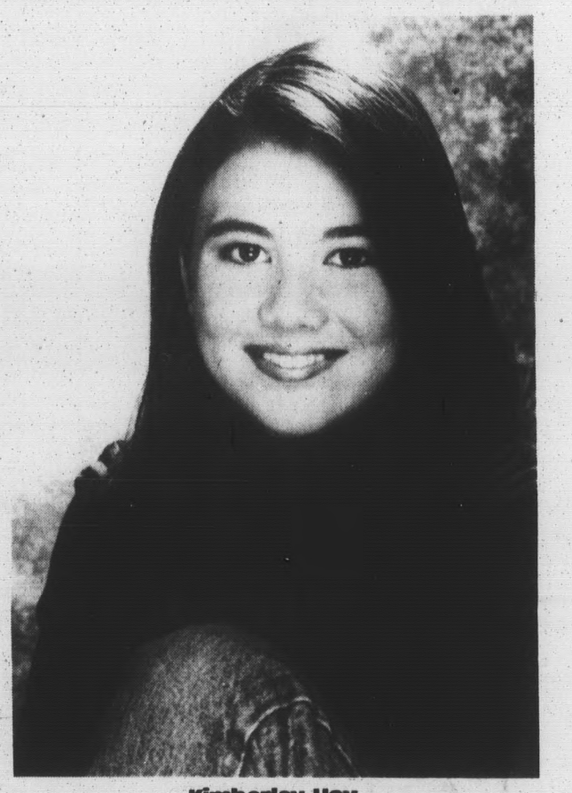

Former Sierra Madrean attends London Academy

Kimberley Hoy, former Sierra Madre Rose Float Princess, is studying in London at the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Art. She took a one-year leave from DePaul University Theater School in Chicago to attend three terms, beginning on Sept. 22 for the autumn term.

In that term, she will study basic groundwork and Shakespeare. That term ends Dec. 9 and she will have four weeks of Christmas vacation. The spring term is from Jan. 9 to Mar. 31, 1995, and the summer term is from Apr. 10 to June 2.

In the spring term, Hoy will study development and style, and in the summer term, showing and "practising results in performance."

Students will be introduced to voice, singing, movement, period dance, stage fighting, the Alexander Technique, history of theatre, acting classes, Shakespeare sonnets and texts.

Merchants complete parking survey, hear numbers of tickets issued

Sierra Madre Police Chief Joe Surgent announced to the Chamber of Commerce board of directors last Tuesday morning that Lisa Volpe, traffic control officer, had given out, during July, August and September, 146 tickets for the two-hour limit; 101 tickets for the 20-minute limit zones; five tickets for the handicapped zones and 36 in the red zone.

Jerry Meyer of Paper Palace remarked that at least now the distribution of traffic tickets is consistent.

Volpe is delivering a Sierra Madre parking survey to all merchants, requesting information which the Police Department feels will assist them in structuring a way to improve downtown parking.

Some of the questions ask if downtown parking could be improved if police eliminate two-hour and 20-minute zones, or increase 20-minute zones, or decrease those zones. It also asks if angled parking should be changed to parallel parking, if parking meters should be installed, if Kersting Court should be changed into a no-parking mall. The questionnaire also asks if merchants are pleased with the current plan and requests that the merchants suggest ways to improve parking.

Both the city, under the signature of Mayor MaryAnn MacGillivray, and the chamber, with Karen Corazzelli, president, are requesting answers to these questions.

Ask Dr. Tami . . . Pet Corner . . . This pet's for you . . .

Dear Dr. Tami,

I just had a rabbit die from a hair ball impaction. Is there any way to prevent this from occurring?

Trichobezoars or hair ball obstructions are fairly common in rabbits, especially those with long hair. If during grooming rabbits ingest enough hair, it will clump in the stomach and will not pass normally into the small intestine. Eventually the rabbit will stop eating and the droppings will become very small and scant. Treatment is generally supportive including fluids. Oral administration of an enzymatic solution may help break down some of the hair enabling it to pass. However, some rabbits do require surgery to remove the obstruction. In either case some of these rabbits will die despite aggressive therapy. The best way to treat this problem is to prevent it from occurring. Daily brushing and combing will help remove some of the excess hair. Oral substances like petromalt or laxatone are intestinal lubricants and will help hair pass through the gastrointestinal tract. A high fiber diet is very important so provide lots of fresh hay. Some also believe that fresh pineapple juice may also help since it has a natural enzyme in it that may aid in the digestion of hair.

If you have a question regarding your pet write "Ask Dr. Tami," P.O. Box 661270, Arcadia, CA 91066-1270

Hi! My name is Bailey and I am a one-year-old female Golden Retriever mix. The reason I am available for adoption is unfortunate: my family was moving and did not want to take me with them. I get along well with other dogs and people of all ages. I also love going on car trips to the beach, the park, or wherever you like to go, providing I am on a leash at all times. I do have a tendency to jump fences to visit neighbors, so I would need a six foot fence to live behind when I am not with you. My animal ID number is A011473.

See you SOON!!
Bailey

Committee seeks volunteers from town

A Blue Ribbon Youth and Family Committee is being formed to assist the city with the completion of the General Plan. The committee will aid the General Plan Steering Committee by creating a "Youth Master Plan." This plan will identify and document youth needs based on youth and community input. The committee will also work closely with the Parks and Recreation Commission to ensure that all possible resources are used for the project.

Following the data-gathering process, the committee will prioritize a set of recommendations to make Sierra Madre a more responsive community for youth and families. The committee will be dissolved when the Youth Master Plan is completed.

Applications are now being accepted for the volunteer Youth and Family Committee. Both youth and adults are encouraged to apply, and applications are available at City Hall and the Sierra Madre Library. Those wishing more information should call City Hall at 355-7135, ext. 221.

Free flu shots Oct. 25

Faith Lutheran

By Pastor Dann J. Ettner

Martin Luther once remarked, "A lawyer says: Fiat iustitia, et pereat mendus: Let justice be done though the world perish. A theologian says: Let sin be forgiven and the world be saved."

I would like to say that all Christians regularly forgive others and make the world a better place. The truth of the matter is that forgiveness is an extremely difficult gift for anyone to give. It, more often than not, takes a great sacrifice on the part of the giver.

It certainly took a sacrifice on the part of Jesus in order to give us, sinful human beings, forgiveness. We now can be assured that we can come into the presence of the Almighty God, cleansed of any sin which would prevent us from coming into His presence.

Being forgiven of our sins we are commanded by God to forgive the sins of others. Jesus taught us to pray in the Lord's prayer, "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us."

We are not left alone to give the gift of forgiveness to others. We read in Hebrews 2:18, "Because Jesus Himself suffered when He was tempted, He is able to help those who are being tempted." Jesus knows what we are going through. He also knows what it is like to be tempted and to not forgive. Certainly He was tempted with this as He hung on the cross. Yet He does forgive. We hear Him say, "Father forgive them, for they do not know what they do."

The Holy Spirit fills us with the desire and the need to forgive others. And in forgiving them we receive a peace in knowing that we have removed an unnecessary burden from our life. The gift of forgiving others, actually becomes a gift to ourself.

We invite you to join us for worship every Sunday morning at 10:30. We are located on Sierra Madre Blvd. and Hastings Ranch Drive.

Bethany

By Al Elby

An inviting and inspiring celebration of music and ministry will happen at Bethany Church this Sunday, Oct. 16.

The Bluegrass Brethren Band with "down home country gospel" will perform at both the 8:30 and 11:00 a.m. services and will also be in concert at Sierra Vista Park at 2:30 p.m. Their tasteful humor and spiritual emphasis make for a fun, Christ-centered event.

At 6:00 p.m. in the Ministry Center at Bethany, Bob and Maria Hill, veteran missionaries with Greater Europe Mission in Athens, Greece, and co-founders of the Greek Bible Institute, will be speaking. They bring a refreshing presentation featuring sleight of hand or ventriloquism to singing and dramatic multi-media productions.

The Greek Bible Institute is the only college-level permanent residence program in that country offering a full Bible program in the modern Greek language.

Congregational

By Richard J. Anderson, Pastor

Service times are Saturday at 6:30 p.m. and Sunday at 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m., on Oct. 15, 16.

This weekend is Missions Emphasis at Sierra Madre Congregational Church. The theme is "Look What God is Doing." The weekend kicks off with Scott Wesley Brown in concert on Friday evening at 8 p.m. Scott is a true cornerstone not only in the Christian music industry, but also in a passion for world mission; he is a man who has paid the price and answered God's call to the Great Commission. He will also conduct a seminar at 10 a.m. Saturday at SMCC. Then at our Saturday evening and Sunday morning worship services we will be hosting several of SMCC's missionaries, welcoming them into our services and Sunday School classes. Come and "Look What God is Doing!"

St. Rita's

The Mass as Sacrifice

The Mass as a sacrifice is not offered to Christ. It is rather His offering of Himself to the Father. He is both priest and victim, both the one offering and the one offered. In the Mass Christ is our intercessor, our mediator. He brings God the Father's merciful love to us and He offers our devout adoration to the Father.

The direction or orientation of the Mass to the Father is clearly expressed in the prayers. We conclude our petitions by saying to God the Father, "We ask You this through our Lord Jesus Christ, Your Son, who lives and reigns with You and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever." We conclude our eucharistic prayer in these words addressed to God the Father about Christ: "Through Him, with Him, in Him, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, all glory and honor is yours, almighty Father, forever and ever."

We are privileged to join Christ in His offering because through the power of the Holy Spirit we form one body with Him. We are His mystical body, which is the church. We can actually become part of Christ's offering of the sacrifice of the cross to God the Father, but only if we understand the orientation (direction) of the sacrifice and act in accord with it.

Adoration of Christ expresses our devotion to Him. True devotion moves us to follow His lead, to value His dedication as the priest and the victim of the Mass, to join Him in offering the eucharistic sacrifice to God the Father. (Adapted from words by Rev. Chas. E. Miller in The Tidings.)

Good Shepherd

Ongoing programs include Bible study for adults at 9 a.m., when the Rev. James K. Thomann, assistant pastor, will continue the study of the Gospel of John in the "Scripture in Focus" class.

Children may take part in the "Discovery Hour" at 9 a.m., and Church School at 10 a.m. Child care is available all three hours.

Local decorator will co-chair Showcase

Jan Tuszynski, ASID, of Sierra Madre is co-chairing the 8th annual Showcase of Kitchens scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 16, in the greater Pasadena area.

Ohers co-chairing the function are Cynthia Bennett, ASID, and Ursula Brown, also ASID.

Profits from this year's tour of homes in La Canada, Pasadena, South Pasadena and San Marino will go to The Sycamores, a home for abused and abandoned boys from 4 to 14, and also for scholarships for interior design students as well as community service projects.

This project is presented by the Pasadena Chapter of the American Society of Interior Designers.

Birdwalk at center

On Sunday, Oct. 16, at 8 a.m. there will be a birdwalk, led by Hill Penfold and other enthusiastic "birders" at the Eaton Canyon Nature Center, located at 1750 N. Altadena Drive, Pasadena.

Those who join the group should meet at the flag pole. Bring binoculars and water.

Citizen group formed to 'police' cemetery

A citizen watch program has been implemented by volunteers to stand watch over the Sierra Madre Pioneer Cemetery during the Halloween season to protect headstones from being pushed over, said Henry Picinisco, vice president of the Sierra Madre Cemetery Association.

Sierra Madre Police Chief Joe Surgent said he would "cooperate and enthusiastically endorses the group and its action."

Not only will the citizen group be present but the Police Department will put extra effort into protecting the cemetery, also.

Surgent said that he has instructed the citizen watch group to call him no matter who enters the cemetery. The association will prosecute all trespassers during the Halloween season.

Officers of the association are Sam Simpson, president; Picinisco, vice president; Martha Spriggs, treasurer; and Barbara Cline, secretary.

Odd Jobs and experts of the past

'A great odd job of the future'

by Barry Schwam

"Space...the final frontier. These are the voyages of the star ship, 'Enterprise'..." Recognize those now immortal words? They are the opening to "Star Trek" (of my generation). Of all the television shows of the last 20 years, none has captured the imagination of future technology mixed with genuine human emotions like "Star Trek" did. And what about its lead character, Captain James T. Kirk? Was he real in the sense that his job of a star ship captain could actually be a real job someday? If our planet survives long enough, sure, why not! But can you stretch your own imagination far enough to picture yourself as captain of the star ship Enterprise? How would you run your ship differently than Captain Kirk ran his?

"Star date 2434.5 Captain Barry A. Schwam, recording. We've received a distress call from a far distant planet in the Newbonia Quadrant. I have ordered Commander Spock to pipe album-oriented rock music throughout the ship to give the crew a change from our usual format of "oldies from the late 2014s," since this will be an unusually long voyage. I have also instructed Chief Engineer Scott to re-program the food replicators to dispense vegetarian cuisine only, during this mission. This is because the planet is inhabited by nothing but cows, pigs, and chickens, and I feel that our diplomatic efforts would be hampered if we started looking at the planet's inhabitants with hungry expressions on our faces. And I have instructed Lieutenant Uhura not to accept any more collect calls from Klingons. All they do is talk about how they're going to rule the universe someday and blah, blah, blah. Schwam out."

So, there's my version of what I would do if I ran the Enterprise. Maybe you've got one of your own? Beam it on over to The News, and maybe we'll print it. But aside from my little fantasy, I really think that being a star ship captain would be a great job! It would be a tremendous responsibility, though. And there would be no room for wavering on decision-making; a person would have to have a mind like a steel trap! And always be honorable, fair, just, and heroic. And most important, always obey the prime directive of never interfering with other creatures' lives... You know something? I think it's a lot harder job in person than it is on TV. I wonder why that is?

St. Rita's parish Day at the Races benefit

"Triple Crown" winners will have a chance to win a trip to Maui, with round trip airfare, seven nights hotel accommodations and a rental car included, during a Day at the Races benefit for St. Rita's School on Saturday, Oct. 22. Post time for the first race is 12:30 p.m.

St. Rita's parishioners, their families and friends will gather in Santa Anita Park's infield for an afternoon of Thoroughbred racing, a BBQ steak sandwich or hot dog lunch and opportunities to win in "The Long Shot Derby" and the "Triple Crown."

Sixteen gift baskets will be awarded in the "Long Shot Derby," while "Triple Crown" prizes include, in addition to the Hawaiian trip, a round trip cruise to Catalina Island with two nights hotel accommodations, dinner and tours. Another prize is $1000 in cash.

Adult race day tickets are $15, while children 18 and under are admitted for $5 and children under 2 are free. For tickets, call 447-5080. Tickets will also be available after Mass through Oct. 16.

Webb-Martin attends convention

Judy Webb-Martin, president of the Arcadia Board of Realtors, attended the California Association of Realtors Expo '94 and directors' meeting held in San Diego Sept. 20-24, and found it "educational, informative and exciting."

The Expo offered realtors opportunities to explore the latest software, hardware, advertising techniques and cutting edge technology. The education classes included speakers from across the country.

Webb-Martin reported that the quarter directors' meeting opened with an "uplifting report" by Leslie Appleton Young, CAR's chief economist, with a positive forecast for real estate not only in Northern California but also Southern California. "We have definitely bottomed out and are beginning to see appreciation on homes. It will be a slow recovery but we are headed in the right direction," Young told the realtors.

Pat Neal, CAR president for 1994, continued to enlighten the directors with positive reports on the economy. President Pat also relayed information about CAR's health program in partnership with the Jardine Group.

Several ballot positions were reviewed as they relate to real estate and the legislative committee, and advocates have been working hard to keep private property rights in California, Webb-Martin explained.

There was also an all-day symposium on "Housing in California" held on Sept. 23 with John Seymour, director of the California Housing Finance Agency, as the keynote speaker.

"It was a busy and productive meeting and we look forward to all the new challenges ahead," Webb-Martin concluded.

Local woman part of band

By William Kalin

Kathryn Jensen of Sierra Madre is one-third of the "Love Toyz" band set to play on Saturday, Oct. 22, at the Montecito Fine Arts Studio at 75 N. Baldwin Ave., and on Saturday, Oct. 29, at the Java Art Cafe at 90 N. Baldwin Ave., Sierra Madre.

Besides Jensen, the other two who are part of the group are Brian Barnum and Steven Albott. They play acoustics.

The group is promoting an upcoming CD on Natural Elements Records, produced by Devin Thomas of Southwest Sound, Sierra Madre. Joining them on their CD are Timothy Gaines of Stryper fame and Tommy Coyne of the Prophetous, on drums.

Although the Love Toyz will soon introduce the full band, they set out to prove you don't have to be loud to be good. "We like to feel that we can fit the occasion, plugged or unplugged. We're not stuck in a box that people invent," said Jensen.

The group invites the Foothill communities to join them on Oct. 22 and Oct. 29 in Sierra Madre.

(This letter was sent to City Administrator Sean Joyce with a copy to The News. Ed.)

This letter is being sent by Certified Mail as a formal demand for relocation benefits due under the law to Marie A. Little (formerly Marie A. Wilcox) who is presently residing at 449 Mariposa in the City of Sierra Madre.

Mrs. Little has occupied the city-owned residential property, referred to above, as a tenant under a month-to-month lease for some 22 years. Recently the city has attempted to force her out by denying reasonable maintenance and informing her that they intend to "demolish" the dwelling, since they no longer wish to be a landlord.

Enclosed please find copy of a "Termination Notice" *(not included here due to space limitations).

Mrs. Little is 72 years of age and recovering from a recent stroke. Under statutory law, decided cases and common decency, she is entitled to relocation assistance in the form of (a) moving expenses, and (b) lump sum or installment payments for supplemental rental or toward the purchase of a replacement residence.

You have graciously offered to "assistance" in locating some other accommodation. This gesture is appreciated, but an exhaustive search makes it abundantly clear that there is nothing suitable or available within or near the City of Sierra Madre. After 22 years, this is a matter of considerable subjectivity. It appears that she will probably have to move some distance out of the city and perhaps endeavor to buy a place.

This letter is, of course, a required first step toward litigation. Mrs. Little is aware of the City's present problems and has no desire to aggravate them by initiating a lengthy lawsuit, so she looks to you for overtures that may avoid or lessen such possibilities. Time is short.

F. Edward Little

Memorial for Edward LaLone

The memorial service for Edward F. LaLone Sr., who died last month, is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 22, at 11 a.m. The location is the Sierra Madre Congregational Church.

T-shirts for sale

We at Mary's Store are currently promoting the sales of "Mary's Store" T-shirts. All proceeds will be donated to the exterior improvement campaign headed by Corinna Krueger. The purpose of this campaign is to beautify and accent the neighborhood as well as the city. The exterior improvements to be made, desired since the re-opening, are the construction and installation of a flowerbed box, stationary window shutters, two bench seats and repairs to the front door. Contributions, whether it's money, the construction for assistance in the benches, shutters and/or the flowerbed box or paint (Bedford green), would be greatly appreciated and acknowledged.

Connie Hastings, Mary Perkins' oldest daughter, has retained Bob Licher to paint "Mary's" on the Knudsen sign on the roof as a contribution. We have also had contributions from unknown supporters. We at Mary's would like to take this opportunity to thank you all for your contributions and support. It is needed and very much appreciated.

Mary Perkins has her very own Mary's Store T-shirt. Do you? If not, they are on sale for $12 for adults and $10 for kids. You can come in and buy them or send check or money order with desired size, return address, name and phone number to Mary's Store, Sierra Madre, CA 91024, Attn: Corinna Krueger.

The Sierra Madrean, with no inventory, is able to bring her expertise into decorating at an excellent price. She brings samples to clients, and they give her an idea of what they like or don't like, choosing color samples on the spot. "Then we work together from there," she explained.

Space planning is her favorite part of decorating. "I like to study traffic patterns and assist my clients in living more comfortably in their homes."

Bennet works with clients in their homes, offices, garden areas, storefront windows, showrooms and lobbies, and in boutiques. came with tire repair kits, and anyone who could remove a tire, patch and get in back of the wheel and pumped up with a hand-operated pump in 30 minutes, was doing very well. The worst part about it was that it might happen again in the next few miles. Almost coincidental with the coming of the cars was a song, entitled "Get Out and Get Under." Too many times it was all too true. Early motorists earned whatever pleasure they got from a Sunday afternoon drive.

On Stage

By Mary Cogswell Baum

Three diverse productions opened this week: one almost purely intellectual, one almost purely emotional, and one good ol' show biz.

Racing Demon, by David Hare, at the Doolittle, a part of the UK celebration, explores the problems of the Church of England. It presents a group of clergymen facing the dichotomy between religion as a personal call to social service and religion as a formal set of beliefs and ceremonies for the saving of souls. British theologian C.S. Lewis once drew a line stating that you cannot admire the historical Jesus as merely an adept moral teacher. "A man who was merely a man and who said the sort of things Jesus said would not be a great moral teacher." A human being who says he is God is a lunatic--unless, of course, he is God.

In Racing Demon, a gentle, kindly, hard-working vicar with a rather tentative personal faith must face up to a young enthusiast who sees active evangelism as Christianity's challenge. The debate is complicated by those with varying degrees of vested interest in the status quo, which, in the British Isles, seems to be fading rapidly. The rounded characters who participate in this debate are fascinating to those who find the complex subject significant. If not, not.

The actors are state of the British art, which is perfection, and the staging, seemingly simple, allows everything from a single man in a spotlight on a bare stage to brief moments of powerful spectacle. The play could not possibly be done better.

Racing Demon plays at the Doolittle Theatre in Hollywood through Oct. 23.

At Cirque du Soleil, however, the only intellectual content has to do with the subtle and satiric mime of certain clowns. All the rest is pure illusion and enchantment. There are some outstanding circus acts, of course: a strong man, a fire dancer, acrobats on a sort of flexible balance beam, on trapezes, on trampolines, on high wires, and a remarkable Russian who plays with a big shiny cube high in the air and who flies. But the unity and fantasy of the staging, the emphasis and atmosphere created by the original music, the ensembles of grotesques and fairies who move like birds and animals, enhance the whirling bodies and carry the audience into another world, another dimension.

This is, if you are susceptible to other dimensions. If not, not.

Cirque du Soleil has pitched its tent, as usual, next to the Santa Monica pier. It will be there through Nov. 20. Get your tickets early; it sells out fast.

And in San Gabriel, the Music Theatre of Southern California has opened Kismet, a good old-fashioned musical with colorful locale, entertaining script and lush songs. Kismet is long-lived, starting in 1911 as a play with Otis Skinner, transformed into a musical in 1953 by the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera, and becoming a Broadway success starring Alfred Drake. The tale of a cheerful opportunist, Hajj, who spends an intricate day going from beggar to rich man to condemned criminal to emir, is pure Arabian Nights and the music, adapted from Borodin, is wonderfully memorable, headed by "Stranger in Paradise" and "Baubles, Bangles, and Beads."

Kismet depends on a charismatic Hajj, and Bob Lauder, Jr. does a bang-up job, his sonorous voice and expressive face drawing applause and laughter. Marleta Morrow looks gorgeous as the seductive and witty Lalume, Wife of Wives to the evil wazir, played with extra humor by Zale Kessler. Ann Winkowski as Hajj's daughter, Marsinah, and Ivan Rutherford as the Caliph are in excellent voice for their romantic duets. Rikki Lugo's dancers provide exotic atmosphere and generate enough excitement to disguise the rather unimaginative costuming and static quality of the choruses.

They sound great though, and if you are a Kismet lover, you will be more than satisfied.

Kismet plays at 8 p.m. on Oct. 13, 14, 15, 21, and 22 and at 2 p.m. on Oct. 16, 22 and 23 at the San Gabriel Civic Auditorium, near the Mission. Call (800) 474-2484 for tickets. There are discounts for teens and groups.

Nancy S. Pihl to speak before members of Christian Science Church

Nancy S. Pihl of Sacramento will speak on the subject, "Finding Our Way with God's Help" from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 16, at the Arcadia High School's South Gym, located east of El Monte Ave. on Duarte Rd. The free public lecture is sponsored by the local Christian Science Church.

"Many young people today are feeling great temptation to solve their problems with illegal drugs and alcohol," says Pihl. "Frustration is often expressed in vandalism and gang violence," she added.

In her talk, Pihl tells how several young people have overcome fears of hopelessness, loss of love and lack of direction in their lives. Having taught in the public schools, in college and in her own teenage Sunday school class, she shares her insights not only on solutions to the problems, but also on the good being accomplished by young people today. She relates how she handled violence in her own school classroom while teaching in New Jersey.

A former actress and mother of four, Pihl has lectured all over the United States, Canada and Europe as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship in Boston, MA.

Everyone is invited. Child care will be provided across the street at the Christian Science Church. Parking is available at the high school as well as the church parking lot.

Nancy S. Pihl

Halloween activities 'orange' up Sierra Madre downtown area

Children in Sierra Madre have the opportunity to participate in another of the village's traditions: the annual costume contest, haunted house and 10-cent carnival, all on Monday, Oct. 31.

Kiwanis Club sponsors the costume contest which begins with registration from 4:15 to 4:55 p.m. in Kersting Court. Children, walking through 14 years, are invited to participate and all registrations will be taken on that day only.

Between 5 and 5:30 p.m., contestants and their families will walk from Kersting Court to Memorial Park, led by Sierra Madre Volunteer Fire Department.

The contest, from 5:30 to 8 p.m., will be held in the band shell area of Memorial Park. Awards will be presented for first, second and third place winners in each age category which is as follows: walking to 2 years, 3 and 4 years, 5 and 6 years, 7 and 8 years, 9 and 10 years, and 11 to 14 years.

Parents will only be permitted on stage during the judging for walking to 1 year old. Awards will be presented immediately following the judging of all age groups. No pre-registration is required.

The Haunted House, which is for all ages, will be in the basement of city hall (entrance at the rear of city hall near the tennis courts). No fee is required. This is sponsored by Sierra Madre Civic Club and Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team.

The 10-cent carnival, also for all ages, is scheduled for the park, also, and is sponsored by the Sierra Madre Recreation Department. Kids should start saving their dimes to win candy and other prizes.

Those wishing more information should call the Sierra Madre Recreation Department at (818) 355-5278, Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Volunteers to locate new benches, wooden trash receptacles downtown

Manuel de la Torre, long-time resident, has put out a call to volunteers in Sierra Madre to assist him in coordinating the placement of new benches and wooden trash receptacles in downtown Sierra Madre.

"We need to replace those past their prime," City Administrator Sean Joyce grinned and said last week. "We are talking to the merchants in a grass roots effort to see where they would like the benches and trash containers. We have had widespread approval."

These two additions will be purchased by the end of this month with CRA funds, and with the support of volunteers to assist them, de la Torre will spearhead the campaign to place them appropriately. He also asks those who have many tools to bring them along when he sends out the plea for help before the holiday season. That's when they are planning installation.

City workers will support the effort, if necessary, Joyce explained.

Jim Mitsch, acting director of public works and engineer, urged everyone to volunteer through Tara Schultz, administrative aide who is also volunteer coordinator. Her number is 355-7135.

He and Joyce also suggested a possible "Adopt-a-Bench" program in downtown Sierra Madre for those who wish to work on a continuing effort.

Who are the Nature Friends?

In the early part of this century, recent German immigrants began to build an Alpine-style lodge and house here in the Little Santa Anita Canyon of Sierra Madre. Their work was fueled by a desire to create a "working man's retreat" where families could come for weekends within nature, and where the tradition of the Nature Friends organization would continue, far from its European roots in miles but close in spirit.

The Nature Friends is a nonprofit organization of hikers, campers, and people who just love the outdoors. Its cultural roots are German, with sister clubs in over a hundred different locations in the Western world, welcoming a membership of nature-loving people that speak many different languages and come from a variety of cultural backgrounds and ages.

Club activities are diverse: monthly potlucks with speakers/exhibitors, weekend trips to the Nature Friends cabin in the San Jacinto mountains for hiking, yoga, and/or celebrations, and various fundraising fun events like Oktoberfest and New Year's Eve festivities.

The rustic Nature Friends lodge is secluded and surrounded by trees, with a large outdoor picnic area under shady oaks and white alders, capable of accommodating more than 80 people. The facilities are available for rental use to the community (at nonprofit rates) and are often the site of wedding receptions and even birthday parties.

Sunday, Oct. 16, is set aside for an Oktoberfest at the Lodge, 423 Yucca Trail, Sierra Madre Canyon. It starts at noon and goes into the evening. This will be a German fair with authentic food, folk dancing, and many things for everyone to eat.

Principals urge everyone to wear a dirndl or lederhosen.

Admission is $5 with children under 12 free if accompanied by an adult.

Those wishing more information should call 355-0117.

Local talent shines at big race weekend

By Michael E. Powers

Last weekend brought to a close the Indy Car season at Laguna Seca Racetrack in Monterey, CA. It was a very special weekend in that it was also the last Indy Car race of famous driver Mario Andretti's career. Warm weather and clear skies greeted a huge crowd that came for this historic event.

The race was won by Paul Tracy from Canada, followed by Raul Boesel of Brazil and Jaques Villeneuve of Canada. Mario Andretti's race ended prematurely when his engine expired four laps from the end.

Along with the Indy Cars was the Player's Ltd./Toyota Atlantic Championship race, one of North America's premium professional racing series. The cars are very fast (0-60 mph in 2.8 seconds) single seat, open wheel Indianapolis-type pure racing cars. These highly competitive races are held all across the United States and in Canada. Top drivers from all over race along with Indy Car events at venues such as the Long Beach Grand Prix or at Montreal, Canada as do the Formula One World Championship cars. Famous drivers that have competed in Atlantic racing include Michael Andretti, Bobby Rahal, Danny Sullivan, both Gilles and Jacques Villeneuve, and Keke Rosberg.

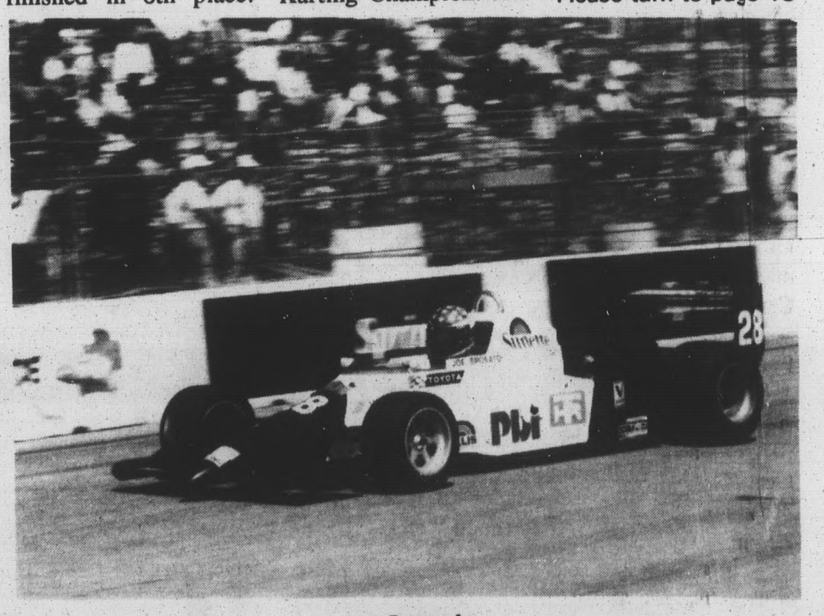

Saturday's race was won by Richie Hearn of Arcadia. Hearn qualified on the pole, but was passed by Colin Trueman of Amlin, OH at the start of the race. Trueman led until lap 9 when he bobbled slightly exiting turn 8. Hearn was right there to take advantage of his mistake, seized the lead and never looked back. Greg Ray of Plano, TX, finished in second with Trueman in third.

Another Arcadia resident, Joe Sposato, finished in 8th place. Hearn's fourth win of the season earned him Rookie of the Year honors and second place in the championship by only 2 points behind David Empringham of Toronto, Canada. The margin was the closest finish in the history of the series.

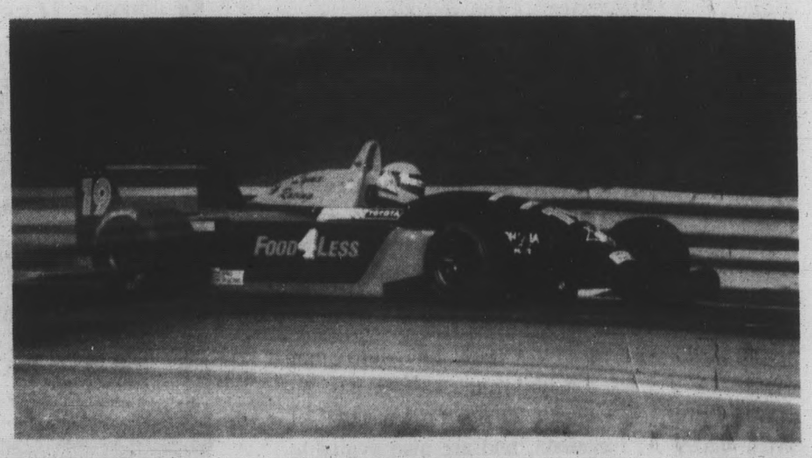

Twenty-three year old Richie Hearn started Kart racing when he was 9 years and is a seven-time National Karting Champion. His other accomplishments include winning the 1990 Pilote Elf competition in France, rookie of the year honors in both the Shelby Pro Series and the American Cities Racing League. In his victory this weekend he drove a Ralt RT41 sponsored by Lynx Racing and Food 4 Less.

Sposato holds the record for most career races in the Player's Ltd./Toyota Atlantic

Animals are blessed

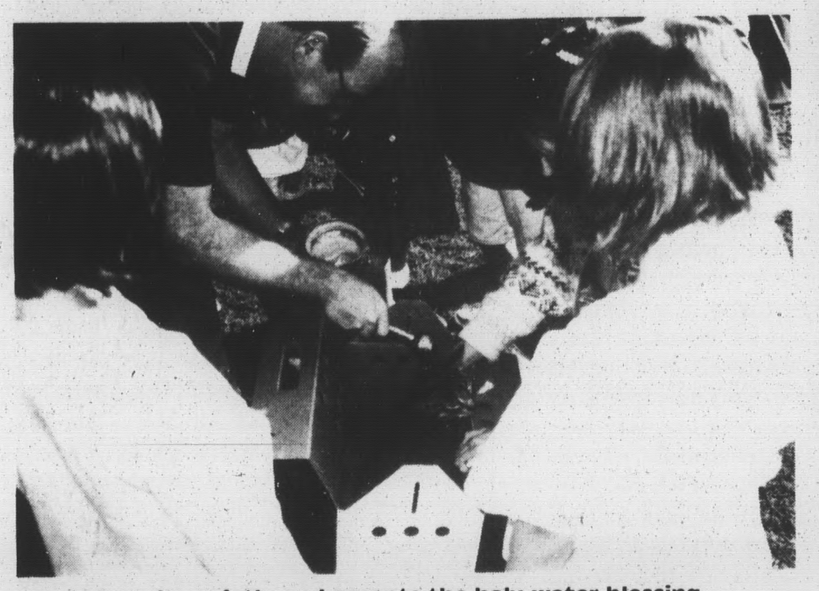

Gooden child has her Mackesh jeweled beetles blessed by Father Bamberger.

Committee is 'on the road'

To date, members have attended meetings of the Economic Development Committee and the Cultural Heritage Commission.

The General Plan will be discussed at the Parks and Recreation Commission on Oct. 24 and Library Board of Trustees in November. Other meeting dates are still being arranged.

The General Plan Committee will meet on Oct. 24, Nov. 7 and Nov. 21. Meetings are on Mondays at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Conference Room at City Hall.

Jim Mitsch, acting director of public works, will be featured at the Oct. 24 committee meeting.

Pepper spray class success

On Sept. 28, people crowded into the chamber room at Sierra Madre city hall to receive training on the use of pepper spray. The class, sponsored by the Police Department, was conducted by deputy sheriffs under contract with the La Puente Valley Regional Occupational Program (ROP).

Instructions included the legality of the use of chemical agents, how to use them, their effects, a practical exercise and a written test. At the conclusion of the evening, the students were issued a state license to purchase and carry mace and pepper spray and a canister of pepper spray.

Chief Joe Surgent said that it was a "win-win situation for all involved." Those participating received the training for a nominal cost at a convenient location.

The Police Department received a portion of the fee which was placed in its equipment account to offset the cost of pepper spray for its officers. The chief added that a second class will be scheduled if there is enough interest.

PACK 376 VISITS NEWS OFFICE -- Among those who recently visited the Sierra Madre News office to learn about putting together a newspaper and the process of printing are the following children, not in order of their appearance: Russell Goehle, Nick Wrobel, Matthew Imes, Chris Bamberger, Nicholas Beener, Michael Weinstock, Tom Safa and Nick Corwin. Adults accompanying the boys were Debbie Bamberger, Melanie Imes and Bill Corwin. Chris Kanyr is Boy Scout den chief of Den 9, Pack 376.

Animal Brethren gather for Blessing

By Laurel Bell

Scattered over the lawn in the early morning chill, the assembly waited for the church service to begin. Chirps, barks and meows punctuated the excited murmuring of children. So began the unusual celebration held last Thursday at the Gooden School in Sierra Madre--the Blessing of the Animals.

For the past few years, children have brought their pets to be blessed in recognition of St. Francis of Assisi, the 12th century saint best known for his sense of brotherhood with animals. "He preached sermons to birds and animals," said Jack Towner, headmaster of the school. "Ever since then, people have been taken with him."

Dogs, cats, rabbits, hamsters, turtles, frogs, snakes, and a hermit crab were among those who received the blessing. The Rev. Michael Bamberger, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, anointed the animals with holy water, addressing them by name. "Cotton, I bless you in the name of the Father, of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit," he said with gentle regard and dignity, while a young girl solemnly watched her pet rabbit receive the blessing.

As he navigated his way skillfully through the crowd, Father Bamberger missed no one, not an easy task in the throng of rambunctious and curious creatures. Among the more unusual recipients of the blessing were a pair of Mackesh beetles named Rainbow Saver and Star Saver; James G. Snake, the resident gartersnake of the 4th and 5th grade class; X, a young iguana; Sweet Pea, a camel-colored rat; and Penelope the cockateel. "I don't have a pet," said one undaunted girl, who requested a blessing for her goldfish T-shirt.

The mood was dignified and earnest. "One of the mothers has just told me that an injured Cooper's hawk was found in her yard yesterday and is now receiving medical care," said Father Bamberger toward the close of the service. "Let us pray for all animals who are hurt, and for those who are entrusted to take care of animals."

After the last hymn was sung, Father Bamberger commented, "The children bring their pets and see that the things that are important to them are important in all life, including academics. They see God's love being expressed for all God's creatures. Their care for their pet is part of how they learn to care for others."

council recap

Card running out of time; police parade to negotiate

The Arcadia City Council voted unanimously to have staff draft a resolution outlining a time period for property located at 533 Valido Rd. to be brought into compliance with city codes before the city takes steps to demolish the property.

Building, fire and health violations were noted at the residence owned by Mary Card back in March of 1994. In May the property owner was given 90 days to abate the nuisance; however, in meeting with Card's attorney it was agreed that the city would arrange to fumigate and clean up the property. Card asked the council to continue its consideration of further action, and at last week's meeting two neighbors urged the council to pursue action "as fast as possible."

During time for the audience to address the council, spokespersons for the Arcadia Police Relief Association urged the council to re-open negotiations regarding a contract for police officers, agents and sergeants; who have been working without a contract since Oct. 1. APRA members, their families and friends paraded around City Hall and attended the meeting in hopes of persuading the city council to return to the bargaining table as an impasse has been reached.

According to Agent Bruce Smith and Sgt. Harry Verhiley, APRA members are seeking an alternate work schedule, premium overtime pay for all overtime worked, three floating holidays and half-time pay when required to stand by for a court appearance. In addition, APRA is requesting that current budgeted funds for uniform purchases be used to upgrade other safety equipment items.

Sgt. Gene Gioia, a member of the police negotiating team, said that he expects APRA to be out in force at next week's council meeting because they have had no response to their request from the council.

Reading from a prepared statement, Mayor Mary Young said that because of financial constraints, "no monetary items were authorized by the city council" and that "any financial adjustments would adversely impact the current budget and would require a reduction in services or appropriation from the city's reserves."

On a 4-1 vote, with Councilman Dennis Lojeski casting the negative vote, the council requested staff to prepare a text amendment regarding game machine arcade regulations, which would require a conditional use permit for any business with four or more game machines. The current regulation calls for a CUP for more than seven game machines.

In other action, the council approved the introduction of an ordinance amending the contract between the city council and the board of administration of the California Public Employee's Retirement System. The council unanimously adopted an ordinance adding a design overlay to the properties located in the area bordered by Virginia Avenue on the north, Santa Anita Avenue on the west, Highland Oaks on the east extending to the east end of Sycamore Avenue and bordered by the commercial properties fronting on Foothill Boulevard on the south and including these areas into the Highlands Homeowners Association.

Members of the Senior Girls Softball All-Stars from Coast Little League, who won the District 17 championship and who went undefeated in the city and district tournament, were honored by the council.

The council met last Tuesday to discuss redevelopment projects, and the next regular meeting will be on Tuesday, Oct. 18, 7:30 p.m., in council chambers at Arcadia City Hall.

ARCADIA ROYAL COURT -- Still showing some emotion after being named to the Arcadia Tournament of Roses Royal Court are Corrie Broge, Laura Ursettie, Michelle Mouton, Sabrina Fox and Brooke Hobbs.

T of R selects new court

Four Arcadia High School students, three of them juniors, and a La Salle senior have been named to the Arcadia Tournament of Roses Royal Court.

Corrie Broge, Sabrina Fox, Brooke Hobbs, Michelle Mouton and Laura Ursettie were selected from a field of 25 finalists who were challenged with thought-provoking questions during a pageant held in the auditorium at Holly Avenue Elementary School on Saturday evening.

Princesses Corrie, Brooke and Laura are 16-year-old juniors at Arcadia High, while Princess Sabrina, 17, is a senior, and Princess Michelle, 18, is a senior at La Salle.

One of these girls will be crowned queen of the Arcadia Tournament of Roses Association during a coronation to be held at the Arcadia Community Center on Saturday, Nov. 12.

Judges for the court selection were Becky Shevlin, a former Pasadena T of R princess; Carm Piscitelli of Arcadia Methodist Hospital; Judy Ting, manager of a local branch of First Interstate Bank: Andrew Siegel, who is in the food distribution business; and his brother, Steven Siegel, a producer in the entertainment business.

Karen Towner was director of the pageant and her committee included Mary E. Hansen, Carmen Thibault, Don Kennedy, Patti Hegarty, Lisa Zonver, Steve Worsley, Carol Morrison, Virginia Skelton and Jack Teel. Thibault is the new court advisor.

Mead makes Pasadena Court

Lianne Mead, a 17-year-old Arcadia High School senior who has spent the last year as a princess on the Arcadia Tournament of Roses Royal Court, will turn in her crown for one issued by the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, as she was named to the Pasadena Court on Tuesday.

Princess Lianne was selected from a group of 34 finalists. Other members of the court are Chelseah Perth and Melissa Dittmar from San Marino High School, Sabrina White and Rachelle Joseph from South Pasadena, Aliya Haque from Pasadena Poly and Sandy Cho from La Canada.

DIRECTORS' ROOM FEAST -- Checking over selections offered in Santa Anita Park's Directors' Room during opening day of the Oak Tree meeting are Arcadia Mayor Mary Young and her husband, Dick, and Councilman Dennis Lojeski and his wife, Janet, with chef Herbert Strauch, who has been with Santa Anita for 20 years.

Santa Anita supports T of R float depicting Thoroughbred racing

The design of the Arcadia float for the 1995 Rose Parade, which depicts Thoroughbred racing at Santa Anita Park, was unveiled at last week's Arcadia Tournament of Roses Wineshed Mixer.

Los Angeles Turf Club, Inc., operator of Santa Anita Park, is giving the primary financial support for the float, which will be seen in the parade by millions of people in person and world-wide on television. The 1995 parade theme is "Sports --A Quest for Excellence."

"The theme gave us a perfect opportunity to put Thoroughbred racing in general and Santa Anita in particular in the limelight," said Clifford Goodrich, president of Santa Anita. "We feel strongly that racing deserves this kind of boost in a showcase that appeals to all kinds of people, all over the globe."

Oak Tree Racing Association, which conducts the current autumn racing season at Santa Anita, also has made a donation, and the Arcadia T of R conducts fundraising events to help underwrite the annual float project, which gives Arcadia widespread visibility and recognition.

The float, which depicts a portion of Santa Anita's unique Camino Real hillside turf course with five horses "running" down its incline, was designed by Candice Coder-Chew, who is graphic production manager for Santa Anita. The parade will be on Jan. 2 as Jan. 1 falls on a Sunday, and the parade is not presented on that day.

Arcadia Scene

by JoAnn Scott

It was kind of like the Rose Parade. It may rain the night before, but come parade time, the weather is sure to clear up. It rained buckets on Wednesday morning, but by 12:30 p.m., post time for the first race of Oak Tree's opening day at Santa Anita Park, the rain had stopped, the clouds had parted and there was even some blue sky for the 33,511 fans in attendance for the first day of the 27-day meet. No one could remember rain for the races on opening day.

Enjoying luncheon in the Directors' Room, where selections included marinated guinea hen breast seared and served with fresh berries and balsamic infusion, petrale sole wrapped with crab and scallop mousse and roast rack of veal with fresh rosemary and garlic, were Marilyn and Randy Stoke, Addie and Nick Pokrajac, Karen and Cliff Goodrich (he is general manager of Oak Tree Racing Association and president/COO, Los Angeles Turf Club). And former Arcadians Dorothy and Ray Rogers.

Members of the city hall family were also seen in the Directors' room: City Manager Bill Kelly and Chris Eynon, Councilman Barbara and Jim Kuhn, Councilman Dennis and Janet Lojeski, Councilman Bob and Bev Margett and Mayor Mary and Dick Young.

Another familiar face was Mary Cooper, daughter of the late Catherine Mundy, who is remembered for being the society editor of the former Arcadia Tribune. It seems that Mary is following in her mother's footsteps. After many years as a volunteer contributor, writing press releases for various organizations, Mary is helping out on a part-time basis with society news for the San Marino Tribune.

Arcadians spotted in the Turf Terrace on opening day were Rita and Dick Closson, Carole and Joe Ciraulo, Marilyn and Joe Sargis, Lee Sheperdson, Glenys and Earl Welch, Vic Zonver, George Fasching, Bingo and Gino Roncelli, Marguerite Towsley, Rosemary Franco, Mikki Porretta, Roni Evantov, Sandy Snider and Milt Schmutz.

Prior to last Friday night's football game, when Arcadia shut out South Pasadena, 38-0, the Arcadia Music Club held a steak fry in the rally court on the Arcadia High School campus.

Jeannette Leslie, who was filling in for her husband who was on business in Chicago, was in charge of the event, which found donations from Charles Gilb, who contributed the potatoes, and Steve Worsley of the Bashful Butler, who baked the potatoes. Ready Pak came through with the salad, and Olive Garden donated their famous bread sticks.

Peter Poon, Music Club president, and Lynn Loufek, chairman of the Arcadia Festival of Bands, attended last week's Arcadia City Council meeting to invite the council to this year's band parade, which will be on Saturday, Nov. 19.

Alice and Loren Brodhead, Julie and Don Hopf and Bonnie DeWitt went to San Francisco last week to see former Arcadians, Carol and Larry Pappy, and to take in Fleet Week festivities, a week-long military celebration.

I'm not a grandma, yet; however, two of my good friends have recently become grandmothers for the first time. Jillian Johanna McGoldrick weighed in at 7 pounds, 3 ounces on Sept. 21. Her parents are Sally (Tranzow) and Pete McGoldrick of Granada Hills, and her grandparents are Till and Frank Tranzow of Arcadia. She was wearing her first Michigan T-shirt in a picture shared by a proud Till.

And Patrick Franklin Hoffman was a big 8 pounds, 6 ounces when he arrived on Oct. 4. He is the son of Anne (Collins) and Sam Hoffman of Ventura and the grandson of former Arcadians Betsy and Pat Collins, now living in Newport Beach.

Both expectant mothers were honored at showers given in Arcadia. Carol McGuire and Kelly Diehl hosted a shower for Anne, while Alice Brodhead, Patty Queen and Dee Dee Moffat held a brunch for Sally and baby.

Till Tranzow and Marilyn Nicholson play on the Annandale Women's Golf Team, which won the gross title in its group and went on to the playoffs, losing in the second round to Los Coyotes. Yours truly and Eiko Kanenobu are the local golfers who played on the Glendora Women's Team, also gross winners who lost to Los Coyotes in the first round of playoffs.

Last year Glendora went on to the finals in gross competition, losing to Mission Viejo.

Esquival scores as time runs out in La Salle win

Tim Esquival caught a Ryan Garcia pass on the four-yard line and lunged over the goal as time expired to lift the La Salle High School football team to a 16-13 victory over Pius X in Santa Fe League action last weekend.

The Lancers thought they had pulled out the victory on the play before, only to have a touchdown nullified because of an illegal procedure call.

John Otton got La Salle on the scoreboard when he set a school record with a 28-yard field goal in the first quarter. Pius X scored on a 78-yard pas play and La Salle was down 3-7 at halftime.

Pius X went on to score the second unanswered touchdown, before Garcia's 61-yard punt put Pius deep in its own territory, and Mike Cisternio recovered the opponent's fumble and carried the ball into the endzone. Otton kicked the PAT to bring the Lancers to within three, 10-13.

With four-and-a-half minutes on the game clock, La Salle started a 70-yard drive, which was aided by Travis Ingrao and Rafael Lazcano pass receptions. However, maybe the biggest play of the game was when the Lancers had fourth down and eight yards to go, explained coach Lew Stueck. With Garcia injured, senior backup quarterback Sean Slider came off the bench, took his first snap, and completed a 12-yard pass to keep the drive alive. Then with Garcia back in the game, Esquival caught the game-winning pass.

"It was a very big win for us," said Stueck, whose team is 2-3 for the season. "The highlight was the way the kids kept their poise, played hard right to the end and allowed us to create the opportunities to win the game."

Stueck credited the defense for rising to the occasion "time after time" and at crucial times to stop Pius. Defensive leaders were Pedro Quintanilla, who had an interception, and Esquival, two interceptions, while Otton and Cisternino had fumble recoveries. Other defensive leaders were Jason Luby, Darrell Diaz, Ruben Vasquez, Cisternino, Cory Charles, Eric LeClair, David Roh and Chris Clement.

Otton's kicking created the margin of victory, added the coach, who said, "A special tip of the hat to the kicking coach Steve Collins, who has worked very hard."

The Lancers will face Mary Star, 5-0, for homecoming on Saturday, Oct. 15, 7:30 p.m. at Monrovia High School. Mary Star is coming off an 18-13 victory over Bell Jeff.

O'Brien scores four

Denis O'Brien scored three touchdowns, threw for a fourth and picked up two more points on a conversion to lead St. Rita's to a 41-20 victory over Annunciation School of Arcadia.

O'Brien opened the game with a touchdown on a screen from Jake Benitez, who optioned to O'Brien for the conversion. O'Brien scampered 18 yards to score on the next possession, with Joey Stanislawski scoring on the conversion. Stanislawski hauled in a Benitez pass for the final score of the first half.

On the opening possession of the second half, O'Brien scored again before St. Rita's turned the game over to the Raider's reserves, who managed to put 13 more points on the board. Dion Hemaratanatorn scored on a 45-yard dive play, Matt Visconti caught a short scoring pass and Mario Foresta scored on a conversion.

Defensive leaders who thwarted the Charger running game were Joe Forney, Hemaratanatorn, Gavin Blackstock and Stanislawski, while Benitez, Matt Cowell, Tim Johnson and O'Brien took over pass defense.

Earlier in the week, the Raiders lost to St. Dorothy of Glendora, 22-6. O'Brien intercepted a Bruin pass to set up Blackstock's touchdown and the Raiders' only points. St. Dorothy is now 3-0 in league, with St. Rita a game behind at 2-1.

Taylor scores four times as Minutemen beat Calvary

Surfy Taylor scored four touchdowns on runs of 45, 20, 7 and 15 yards to lead the Maranatha High School football team to a 42-0 victory over Calvary Chapel of Downey on Friday night.

Bubby Murphy scored the first Maranatha touchdown on a 58-yard interception return. Taylor's first touchdown came in the first quarter and he got two more in the second period to give Maranatha a 28-0 lead at intermission.

In the second half, quarterback Nathan Covey connected on a seven-yard touchdown pass to Brett Hommerson and Taylor got his fourth trip to the endzone, while Matt Evans kicked four PATs and Chris Pernevi made good on two extra point attempts.

Taylor finished the game with 187 yards on 11 carries, while Covey had three rushes for 50 yards and was four of eight for 72 yards. Hommerson caught three passes for 63 of the 72 yards.

Gabe Schaller led the defense with 11 tackles, while sophomore Nathan Trask contributed five tackles and two sacks.

Coach Keith Patefield said he had "no complaints, whatsoever" of his team's performance. "The kids came to play and executed well," he continued. He also said that Covey played really well, "probably his best game."

The Minutemen will begin Alpha League competition on Saturday, Oct. 15, 2 p.m., at Marshall, 0-5 for the season. Marshall is coming off a 0-42 loss to Orange Lutheran, one of the top ranked teams in Division X.

Fourth quarter rally lifts Pasadena to win over St. Francis

Pasadena High School scored 21 fourth quarter points en route to a 27-12 victory over St. Francis in a non-league contest on Friday night.

After playing almost two scoreless quarters, Pasadena quarterback Chris McAlister threw to William Stewart who broke three tackles as he ran 43 yards for a score late in the first half to give the Bulldogs a 6-0 lead at halftime.

St. Francis answered by scoring on a fake punt turned into a 43-yard run to tie the score at 6-6.

Lester Towns scored on a seven-yard run and ran in the two-point conversion to give Pasadena the lead for good, and Mike Green scored on a six-yard drive before St. Francis scored its last TD on a 43-yard pass play.

After Green's 50-yard run got the ball to the 10-yard line with a minute left in the game, Corey Holley scored on a reverse as the clock ran down.

McAlister completed five of nine attempts for 120 yards, and he gained 92 rushing yards, while Towns carried the ball 15 times for 104 yards, and Green had 96 yards on six carries. Koran Allen managed 40 yards on six carries, and Joey Valenzuela had 54 yards on seven carries.

"This was one of our better defensive games," said coach Jack Loos, who added that the Bulldogs were a little slow getting on track offensively. However, he gave St. Francis "a lot of credit."

Pasadena will face Hoover, 2-3 for the season, in the Pacific League opener tonight, Oct. 13, 7:30 p.m. at Glendale High School. Hoover beat La Canada for the first time in 10 years last weekend.

Becker, Rice duo help Arcadia

Nicolle Becker had nine kills and four aces to lead the Arcadia High School girls' volleyball team to a three-game victory over Muir in the Pacific League opener last week. Misty Rice also had nine kills and one ace, while Michelina Rice contributed four kills and four aces, and Tina Kaneshiro served four aces as the Lady Apaches won 15-0, 15-2, 15-2.

Arcadia, which moved up to No. 7 from the ninth spot in the CIF Division II poll, went on to defeat Glendale, 15-7, 15-1, 15-4, in league action on Friday. Becker led with 16 kills and she had one ace, while Michelina Rice had seven kills and two aces. Other leaders were Amy McEntee, six kills, one ace and three blocks; and Cindy Fong, three kills and five aces.

Arcadia faced Crescenta Valley on Wednesday and will travel for a league match with Pasadena on Friday, Oct. 14. The varsity game is set for 3:15 p.m. before the 4:45 p.m. junior varsity contest.

Baderian kicks, runs in AHS win as Apaches go 5-0 in pre-league

Ryan Baderian kicked a 42-yard field goal, scored on a 52-yard touchdown run and kicked two PATs, while Jon Shepherd scored two touchdowns on runs of 23 and 25 yards to lead the Arcadia High School football team to a 38-0 victory over visiting South Pasadena on Friday night.

After Baderian kicked the field goal to get the Apaches on the score board, quarterback Jason Wagner connected on a 15-yard pass to Edgar Portillo in the endzone. Shepherd scored on a 23-yard run and Baderian got two PATs to give the Apaches a 17-0 halftime advantage.

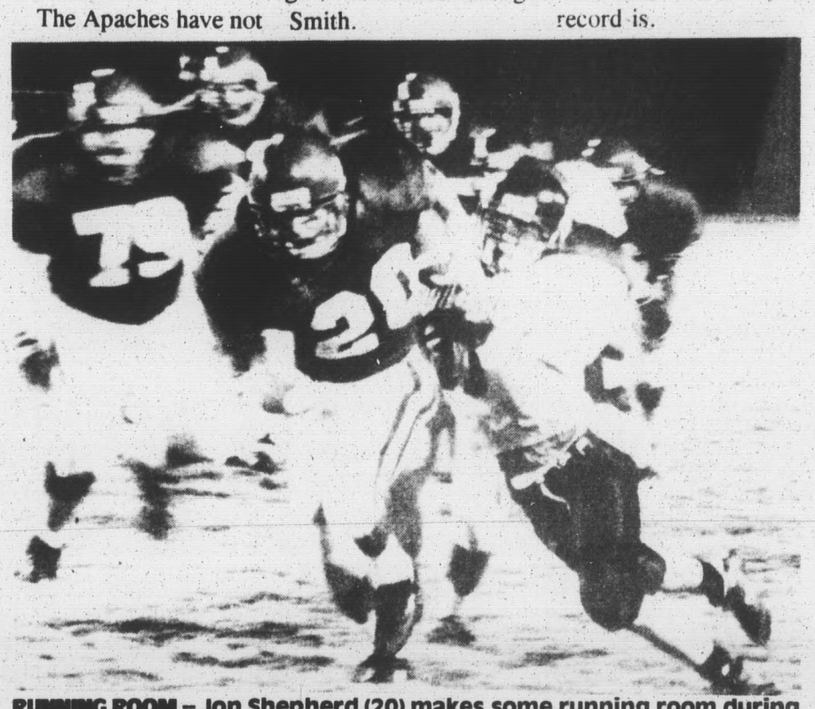

Shepherd, who had 216 yards on 20 carries, scored the first of three unanswered Arcadia touchdowns in the third quarter, this one on a 25-yard run, and Autumn Lodwick got the first of three PATs on the night. She is 8-for-8 in three games.

Brian Teets, who finished the game with 75 yards on three carries, scored on a 60-yard-run, and Baderian's 52-yard TD run closed out the game's scoring. Baderian carried the ball three times for 55 yards, and Sultan Abdul-Malik had 46 yards on eight carries. Wagner completed two of three passes for 25 yards and one touchdown.

The Apache defense, which held the South Pasadena to one offensive first down, was led by Jeff Kuhlberg, who had four sacks and five unassisted tackles.

The Apaches have not gone 5-0 in pre-league competition since 1970. Smith said that some critics have pointed out that Arcadia has not played "tough" teams; however, the success has brought the kids together and "unity makes the team stronger," said coach Doug Smith.

Arcadia will begin Pacific League action with a game at Glendale on Friday, Oct. 14, 7:30 p.m. Glendale, 0-5 for the season, lost to Burbank, 13-21, last week. However, Smith does not expect Glendale to be a "pushover," no matter what their record is.

Chamber at Santa Anita

While at Santa Anita Park for the annual Arcadia Chamber of Commerce Day at the Races during opening week of the Oak Tree meeting, chamber members and friends had the opportunity to check out the new Baldwin Club facilities, part of a $1.5 million capital improvement project at the race track.

New features include the Sierra Vista Terrace, a glass-enclosed, climate-controlled dining area overlooking the track, and the John Henry Race and Sports Room, with more than 20 television monitors for racing and sports action.

Ron Sinicrope, chamber president, was joined by nephew Dal Jones and Jeana Montelong in the Winner's Circle for the running of the second race, which was named in honor of the Arcadia Chamber of Commerce. Chris Antley won that race aboard Gary's Lucky One.
